“ Well I don't have many memories of my father. Because my father only came out very far and in between. He came out three times in the last 10 years. And he left things on a bad foot with me going on 7 years ago. It is very upsetting that no one from the Lisiecki family tried to contact me or my brother know. That our father passed away. The only reason I found out was because I decided to look up his facebook. Thankyou Chris for everything you said.

“ Paul and I met in 2002 and we're together for 12 years. We shared many good times. He did alot for me, my kids and my mom and never thought twice of helping when needed. My son Kris thought of him as a 2nd dad. Paul taught him how to throw a baseball hold the bat, showed him how to throw a football taught him how to cast out the line for fishing taught him basics in carpentry. My son is now 26. These are his fond memories. He helped my daughter remodel her house. Was there when my granddaughter was born she's 10 now he was papa to her my son Tony never knew him that well. We married in 2006 after he proposed 6 times prior and I said no. I finally said yes. We had our ups and downs good and bad. We have been divorced since August 2014. I have moved on but Paul will always have a piece of my heart. He made amends to me last year and apologized for all hurt he caused and wished me a good life and I did same for him. I'm glad I got that apology and now that he's gone there was peace between us. I know he is out of his pain and is at peace. My deepest condolences go to his mom Dolores sister Lori, niece Danielle, daughter Paula, Daughter Felicia, son Andrew and his grandchildren.
