

Casey Lee Turk

March 21, 1987 - October 27, 2022

On October 27th, 2022, Casey Lee Turk left this world for a better place. From his birth March 21st, 1987, to his sudden passing in Butte, Mt. Casey was always on the go anxious for what was to come next, looking for something only he could describe.

Casey was born in Missoula, Mt to Andy Turk and Barbara Williams. He grew up in the small nearby town of Philipsburg, joining his brother and sister Brandon Turk and Anni Neibel.

Casey attended school in Philipsburg, but never taking traditional routes, graduated from Trapper Creek Job Corps. After a brief stint in the Army/ National Guard, Casey pursued his career in welding where he became extremely proficient. He always attended seminars and courses to learn, to be better as a person and in life.

Casey loved to travel, never planting his roots too firmly in one place, “free spirit falls short’ in description, but always called Philipsburg home. Family was very important to Casey and keeping them close in contact and to his heart was always a priority. Casey loved, it seemed, to dabble in a little of everything and had endless interests and hobbies, artwork, and writings among them.

Never on to dwell on people shortcomings. Casey made friends easily, quick to call them family and left his mark and memory wherever he went. Adhering to his tendency to dabble in everything, Casey was not shy of his shortcomings and mistakes and tended to view them as learning experiences, embracing the chance to better himself at every instance. He motivated the people around him with his energy, was quick to laugh (even at himself) and was an acceptor of all challenges put before him. Casey a father, brother, and child will be forever missed by those who truly knew him. As stated above, Casey also is survived by his daughter Jlynn Turk, his younger sister Mandy Turk, niece Emma Turk, nephews Isaac Stephenson, Ethan Stephenson, his aunts Janie Sandcrane, Debbie Allen, and Jill Kendall-Hala. Grandmother Helen Kendall, stepfather Mark Williams, stepbrother David Williams and many other family members, close friends, and loved ones.

Per the wishes of the family and Casey's insistence on celebration of everything, there will be no memorial service held at this time, any questions, concerns, memories or other can directed to his brother Brandon Turk per messenger or Facebook Mail for Windows
