Deborah (Campbell) Young

August 9, 1953 - June 8, 2024

Deborah Young, age 70, of Butte, Montana, passed away peacefully on June 8, 2024.

Debbie was born on August 9, 1953, in Butte, MT, to Edith and William Campbell. She was one of seven children. Debbie attended school in Butte, where she graduated from Butte High in 1973. Soon after, Debbie married James Young and went on to have five children: Bobbie Savage, Jenny Young, Matt Young, Tylor Young, and Ciera Norum.

Debbie worked many jobs over the years, mostly cooking for and taking care of the elderly and disabled. She had a love for cats and dogs and cared for many throughout her life, including her Pekingese that kept her company over the last seven years. Beyond that, her kindness and generosity extended to everyone she met. If someone needed a hot meal, a place to stay, or somewhere to go for a holiday, her door was always open. Most importantly, Debbie was a beloved mother and grandmother who dedicated her life to her family. She loved spending time with her grandchildren and spoiling them. She also loved making memories with her family at picnics and barbecues, and she made every holiday special with a fully decorated house and lots of great food. Debbie was known for her cooking and baking. Her talent in the kitchen brought joy to those around her and will be fondly remembered by all who knew her.

Debbie is preceded in death by her parents, Edith and William Campbell, and her siblings Edie, Brenda, Connie, and Kenny. She is survived by her five children and their spouses, 14 grandchildren, and numerous great-grandchildren, who brought immense joy and pride to her life. Debbie is also survived by her brothers, Tom and Scott Campbell, and many other family members and friends.

Debbie will be dearly missed, but her spirit and love will live on in the hearts of her family.
